MINUTES OF THE JUDICIAL AND LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE

DATE:	July 22, 2015
TIME:	1 p.m.
PLACE:	Room 115, Wood County Courthouse
TIME ADJOURNED:	3:25 p.m.
MEMBERS PRESENT:	Chairman William Clendenning, Gerald Nelson, Ed
	Wagner, Bill Leichtnam, Joseph Zurfluh
OTHERS PRESENT:	Peter Kastenholz, see attached list of other attendees.
	accentees.

- At 1 p.m., Chairman Clendenning called the meeting to order.
- 1. Public comments. None at this time.

2. Moved by Nelson, seconded by Leichtnam, to approve the minutes of the June 2 and 16, 2015, Committee meetings. All ayes.

3. The Committee reviewed department reports and monthly voucher reports:

Moved by Zurfluh, seconded by Wagner, to approve the reports and payment of vouchers of Branch I, II, and III, Child Support, Clerk of Courts, Register of Deeds, Family Court Commissioner, Corporation Counsel, District Attorney, and Victim/Witness. All ayes.

Jason Grueneberg spoke regarding the "Blueprints for Tomorrow" leadership training program with about ten staff included in the training including Brent Vruwink.

Moved by Zurfluh, seconded by Wagner, to approve a proposal by Vruwink to make pay grade changes within the department. All ayes.

- 4. The memorandum entitled "Immunity: Discretionary vs. Ministerial Acts" was reviewed by the Committee and will be forwarded to the county board in the August packet.
- 5. The Committee reviewed the resolution on centralized accounting.

Mike Martin spoke about how the accountants and department heads have met and have worked things out to their satisfaction at this time.

Kathy Roetter spoke against having multiple supervisors for the financial managers at issue. She spoke in favor of having specific policies and procedures. Doug Passineau supported Kathy's position of having the Finance Department develop policies for what it wants accomplished.

Supervisor Wagner emphasized the need of an accountant to oversee the work of the financial managers. Wagner doesn't think the department heads will see much of a change in how the departments function; this proposal will not be an impediment to that.

Supervisor Zurfluh wondered if more time is needed to contemplate this proposal. No support for a delay.

Supervisor Clendenning felt that this proposal is long overdue. Roetter explained some of the past issues and why they arose.

Consensus of the Committee to approve the resolution for a centralized accounting system and to forward it to the county board.

Supervisor Zurfluh explained after the vote that he was supporting the presentation of the resolution to the county board but he wasn't sure how he will vote at the county board meeting.

- 6. Discussion on $6,125 the Village of Biron owes to the County for financial advice the County obtained as part of the now defunct Wood County/Village of Biron Business Park. Moved by Zurfluh, seconded by Leichtnam, to direct the corporation counsel to collect the money. All ayes.
- 7. Membership on the North Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission was discussed. The County is not currently a member of this Commission but we do attend the meetings. There is a disagreement as to whether Wood County should be a member of this entity. It is expected that an invite will be forthcoming.
- 8. Supervisor Leichtnam reported on the status of the Groundwater Study Group and the ordinance that will be submitted to the county board in August.
 Moved by Leichtnam, seconded by Zurfluh, to have the committee support the resolution creating the groundwater protection ordinance. 4 ayes, Wagner voted no.

CORPORATION COUNSEL Peter A. Kastenholz MONTHLY REPORT TO THE JUDICIAL AND LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE August, 2015

- 1. Goals: see attached memo entitled: Workers Compensation Overview
- 2. Re: Construction Business Group (CBG) vs. Town of Sigel, et al.

On Friday, July 24, Atty. Tim Yanacheck, who represents the Town of Sigel and its insurance company, called and left a voice message asking if this case was similar to an action brought by the CBG against Wood County in 2010. I called Yanacheck back and advised that the Pearson case from 2010 was brought by CBG but was different in that it alleged the county acted outside its scope of authority by selling asphalt to a private party for a private job (Riverview Hospital). Here we have CBG claiming the county did not have the right to do highway construction work for a town.

I advised Yanacheck that I saw the county taking a bit of a back seat on this case as the county clearly had the statutory authority to do the work at issue, we simply shouldn't have used a bid form to submit a quote. I also felt the town had the statutory authority to retain the county for the highway work, all of which was set forth in my lengthy answer. Yanacheck agreed and stated he pretty much copied off my answer. I asked if Yanacheck was looking to file a motion to dismiss and he said he was looking into it but hadn't committed one way or the other yet. He said that there was an action by CBG against Manitowoc County recently that was dismissed on a motion to dismiss that he was going to see if that case was factually similar to this one or not. I asked that he keep me posted. I will eventually consider filing a motion for summary judgment, which is like a motion to dismiss but it would have an affidavit attached to it.

- 3. The 2016 budget is a problem in the sense that there is no more magic to be worked; I simply will be unable to meet the 0% increase criteria set by the Executive Committee.
- 4. There is an administrative hearing that has been requested wherein the appellant has asked the state review a substantiation of child abuse finding. As I previously informed you, this office is routinely handling these cases now but this one is a problem for me in the sense that the police officer did the right thing in referring the matter to Human Services to investigate the relationship between a parent and child who had a fight and Human Services was technically correct in finding child abuse in that the parent 'injured' the (near adult) child but the injury was clearly in self-defense and everyone, including the child, are so stating. The child was given a disorderly conduct citation and the parent was not charged, apparently due to the self-defense. The parent is facing the lifelong tag of being a child abuser and all of the licensing implications that go along with that. So, I have told Human Services I am not comfortable just pursuing this case even though we can probably win it as it just isn't right. There has been push back by the department. I will be meeting with Human Services management to further address where we will go and what are our options. From a legal perspective there doesn't seem to be any middle ground, such as a hold-open agreement, instead it is either pursue the case or dismiss it. If I were in private practice, I would either not take the case or just handle it and leave the moral implications to the client. Being in the public sector I see my role as different but that difference is not very well defined. If push comes to shove, you may be hearing more about this matter so I thought I would give you a heads up now with a cryptic summary of the confidential facts.

MEMORANDUM

DRAFT

TO:	Wood County Board
FROM:	Peter Kastenholz, Corporation Counsel
DATE:	September 15, 2015
RE:	Worker's Compensation Overview

A number of years ago a memo to the board was prepared in response to the issue of whether county board supervisors are considered employees within the context of the worker's compensation act (WCA). They are. What wasn't addressed in that memo was a broader discussion of the WCA itself and some of the administrative code chapters that implement it. In that the county employs hundreds of people who are covered by the WCA and yet many people have some basic misunderstandings as to what the law does and why it exists (some think the WCA was developed to protect employees; it wasn't) it seemed like a worthwhile exercise to prepare a primer on the law.

Wisconsin was the first state to enact a comprehensive worker's compensation law, which took place over 100 years ago. The premise behind the law is primarily to protect employers from unknown liability by preventing employees from hiring attorneys to sue them in court. This is accomplished by setting up a schedule of damages for certain injuries. It is a strict liability system, meaning that as long as the employee was somehow engaged in their job when the injury occurred, the reason the accident took place is irrelevant, even if the injury was sustained through complete fault of the employee, the employer is still responsible.

What follows are some specific aspects of the law.

- All employers, public and private, are required to be either insured or self-insured for worker's compensation damages. Wood County has been self-insured for many years but does utilize the services of a third-party administrator to assist in implementing the law.
- Not only are injuries sustained on an employer's premises covered by the law but so are injuries that take place anywhere the employee is performing services in the course of their employment. So, for instance, if a social worker has a vehicular accident on the way to visit a client, the injuries sustained by the social worker are covered by the WCA. An employee working out of their home is also covered under the law when they are engaged in their employment activities.
- When the injuries sustained by the employee are the fault of a third party, both the employee and the county then have the right to sue the third party for causing the injuries.
- A formula exists to allocate any recovery from third parties.

Wood County Board September 15, 2015 Page 2 of 3

- The WCA does not cover property damage, thus if an employee's property is damaged due to their work, there is no right of the employee to recover those damages from the county under this law.
- An employee is generally not covered by the WCA while on their way to and from work.
- There exists an administrative process to pursue a worker's compensation claim. That process imposes reporting mandates upon both the employee and the employer.
- Appeals from the administrative process can be made to the state's Labor and Industry Review Commission and appeals from there can be made to a circuit court.
- The WCA is a politically progressive system and consequently is anti-lawyers. The law limits amounts a lawyer can collect from representing an employee in pursuing a claim.
- Penalties of up to 15% of compensation for violating safety rules apply to employees and penalties of up to 15% increased compensation for violating safety laws apply to employers.
- Many cases are concluded by structured settlements which must be approved by the administrative law judge (ALJ). An ALJ will not approve a settlement if they feel the employee is not being properly compensated.
- The WCA has provisions that deal with part-time, seasonal and volunteer employees.

There are different forms of compensation available under the WCA, including:

- Medical claims attributable to the injury. The recovery for medical claims can continue out decades after the incident so long as the claim is related to the employment-related incident. This is a very problematic aspect of the WCA and one that can be circumvented by a compromise agreement. A compromise is different than a settlement as there will be a disputed issue present.
- Temporary disability payments last while an employee is in a healing period. The healing period ends when the employee reaches a "healing plateau."
- During a healing period an employee may return to work with work restrictions.
- Temporary Partial Disability (TPD).
- Temporary Total Disability (TTD).
- Temporary disability payments are equal to 2/3rds of the employee's wage.
- An employee who reaches a healing plateau and is left with a permanent disability has a right to a permanent disability benefit.
- A permanent disability affecting a "scheduled" part of the body (generally, arms, legs, vision and hearing) will result in the benefit being computed via the schedule.
- Permanent Partial Disability (PPD). If a doctor finds a permanent measureable loss of physical or mental function, PPD is payable. The maximum PPD rate is significantly lower than the TTD rate.
- Permanent Total Disability (PTD). If a doctor finds a permanent total loss of employee's physical or mental functioning a PPD will be awarded. The PTD rate is the same as the TTD rate, that being 2/3rds of the employee's wages for the length of time set forth in the schedule.
- There are statutory caps on the average weekly wages that lost time benefits can be based off of.

Wood County Board September 15, 2015 Page 3 of 3

- The WCA includes death benefits as well.
- There is what is termed "nonscheduled injuries" for which the WCA doesn't set forth recovery parameters. Nonscheduled injuries, such as back, neck and head injuries tend to be more expensive and are more prone to contested hearings before ALJs and involvement by attorneys.
- Loss of earning capacity supersedes and replaces a functional rating of computing losses recoverable by the employee in certain situations. A vocational expert needs to provide evidence to obtain this type of compensation.

There are numerous specific provisions, exceptions and procedures applicable to the WCA which are beyond the scope of this synopsis of the law. If the reader has specific questions they may bring them to the insurance administrator or the corporation counsel.
