DRAFT

MEMORANDUM

TO: Wood County Board of Supervisors and County Staff
FROM: Peter Kastenholz, Corporation Counsel
RE: Collections – TRIP
DATE: June 20, 2020

There are a number of ways to collect a debt owed to the County. Well-known methods include small claims actions, regular civil litigation, setoffs, and refusal to grant a license or permit to a person or entity that owes money to the County. Less well known is the TRIP process. TRIP is an acronym for the Tax Refund Interception Program and is the focus of this memo.

Prior to addressing the TRIP program, let's cover some of the pros and cons attendant to the other collection methods.

Small claims is a less formal process for commencing litigation against a person or entity that either owes money to the County or who has violated one of the County ordinances. There is a $10,000 cap for a small claims action to recover money, but there is no such monetary limitation on small claims code violation matters (sometimes attorneys think otherwise but the County has already succeeded at the Court of Appeals on that issue). It costs about $100 to file a small claims action and in recent years our courts have changed their operating procedures, and therefore, personal service of the defendant is required as opposed to the old practice of simply having the Clerk of Courts mail the pleadings if the defendant resides in the county. Trials are held in front of a court commissioner and are recorded as opposed to transcribed and re-trials can be had in a circuit court. The small claims process is a good one and is user friendly but is at times too expensive and time consuming when dealing with claims of a few hundred dollars or less.

Regular civil litigation, sometimes called the long-form complaint process, is the procedure one may think of when contemplating a lawsuit. Typically, the claim is for $10,000 or more and involves an attorney drafting up a complaint containing all of the relevant allegations that is then served on the defendant. Normally an attorney represents the plaintiff and may represent the defendant as well. The process will take many months at a minimum and will often entail one or more type of discovery, such as interrogatories, requests to admit, and depositions. The method is time consuming and tends to be labor intensive.

A setoff is where both parties owe the other and so party #1 advises party #2 that they will take credit against their debt to party #2 what party #2 owes to them. Normally there is no specific statutory authority to take a setoff, but in practice, if one party sues the other, the second party will countersue the first one for the amount owed to them by the first party.

Cities, villages, and towns grant many permits and licenses often associated with construction or a business license, such as for the sale of alcoholic beverages. State laws, local ordinances, and just past practice will often result in the refusal of these municipalities to grant an application for a permit or licensure unless and until the past due amount has been paid in full. Outside of a few departments, the County is not heavily into the permitting process. Those departments may be in a position to deny an application if the applicant owes funds to the County, but it is a case-by-case analysis. More generally, this office has advised numerous departments that a debt for an old record request can serve as a basis for denying a new request if handled properly.

The TRIP process is based off of Wis. Stat. s. 71.935, entitled: Setoffs for municipalities and counties. The state-run program allows a county to certify to the TRIP program a debt owed to the county if the county has obtained a judgment for the debt or if the county has given the debtor reasonable notice and the opportunity to be heard with regard to the debt. Some departments like the Clerk of Courts and Sheriff's Department certify their own debts; others use the Corporation Counsel's office to do so. There are several forms for this process that are available on the County's intranet site, under Corporation Counsel forms, to assist County staff in getting a debt certified. Once certified, the state will withhold funds owed by the state to the debtor for income tax returns and apply those funds to the debt owed to the County. There are a number of other types of debts that individuals and companies may owe that will take priority over the recovery made by the County. These include debts owed to the state and federal governments as well as child support arrearages.

Advantages to the TRIP process include a less cumbersome and time-intensive means of collecting a debt. It may take many years for the debt to be paid in full, but there are no additional processes involved in collecting on a judgment compared to what might be needed in a small claims or regular civil litigation process, such as garnishments or executions. There are no costs to using the TRIP program and as long as the debt exceeds $20 and is owed to the County, the debt is eligible for the program.

If you have questions about using the TRIP program or any other debt collection matter, please feel free to contact the Corporation Counsel's office.

Security Services May 2020 Report

For the month of May 2020, the total number of prohibited items stopped from entering the Courthouse are:

Guns -	0
Knives -	27
O.C. -	1
Misc. Items -	1

Security Services had 49 security requests from different departments within the Courthouse. The contractors/construction crews are still coming in to work on the new District Attorney's Office which should be completed in the first week of June.

Security Services screened 3,844 people entering the courthouse for the month of May, which is about 1,000 more than for April.

For the month of May, Security Services helped 311 individuals at the front doors which prevented them from entering the building. On May 18th, the County Clerk Office and the Register of Deeds Office opened back up to the public. With these two offices opening up we stopped keeping records of the amount of people stopped at the front doors.

On May 26th, the Treasurer's Office opened their doors to the public as well and the Clerk of Courts plan on opening to the public on June 1st. This will only leave Planning and Zoning, UW Extension and Veteran's Services closed to the public.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court ordered that everyone that enters a court room will need to have a mask on. This was implemented by the Wood County Judges on Friday, May 29th. On that day Security Services handed out 17 masks to individuals that came in for court.

On May 28th, Health and Human Services had another meeting at the courthouse that started at 5pm and lasted till 7:30pm. I utilized a part-time deputy to cover this event. Part-time employees worked 17.5 hours this Month.
